DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-20 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections – 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Feigenbaum, US 2005/0038832 A1.

Regarding claim 1, Feigenbaum teaches a computer-implemented method for monitoring a telephony system, comprising:

detecting an error condition in a network component (i.e., application), said error condition including an error identifier and an identifier for the network component (page 4 paragraph [0051]);

obtaining electronic information corresponding to problem resolution techniques for the error identifier and equipment of a type of the network component (page 3 paragraphs [0035]-[0036]);

displaying the electronic information to an administrator in order to facilitate resolution of the error condition (page 2 paragraph [0029]); and executing a computer component to perform the problem resolution techniques by utilizing the identifier for the network component (page 3 paragraph [0035]).

Regarding claim 2, Feigenbaun teaches the method as claimed in claim 1, wherein the network component comprises at least one of a router, a gateway and customer premises equipment (Fig. 2).

Regarding claim 3, Feigenbaun teaches the method as claimed in claim 1, wherein the electronic information comprises at least one of an HTML document and an XML document (page 4 paragraph [0052]).

Regarding claim 4, Feigenbaun teaches the method as claimed in claim 1, wherein the computer component comprises at least one of a script, an executable program, and an active control (page 1 paragraph [0011]).

Regarding claims 5-7, Feigenbaun teaches the method as claimed in claim 1, wherein the step of detecting comprises connecting to the network component using IP-based communications (page 4 paragraphs [0051]-[0052]).

Regarding claims 8-14, those claims comprises a computer program product for controlling a computer to monitor a telephone system, comprising a computer readable medium and instructions embedded in the computer readable medium for controlling the computer to perform method claims 1-7, discussed above, same rationale of rejection is applicable.

Regarding claims 15-20, those claims comprises system for performing method claims 1-7, discussed above, same rationale of rejection is applicable.

4. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to OANH DUONG whose telephone number is (571)272-3983. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday- Friday, 9:30PM - 6:00PM.
